Details for the authorization of Company-nominated proxies:

Registration to the Annual General Meeting in due time as well as submission of evidence of shareholdings in due time entitle a shareholder to participate himself or to authorize a third person, even after issuing voting instructions to the proxies of the Company. Should the shareholder participate himself or send an authorized third person, the proxies of the Company will not make use of their authorization. Please consider that the proxies nominated by the Company are not authorized to vote without receiving prior instructions from the shareholders. If there are no explicit instructions concerning single topics of the agenda, the proxies will abstain from voting at this topic. The proxies of the Company are not available to exercise other shareholders' rights, for instance asking questions or bringing forward proposals or issuing statements. You can follow a possible counter-proposal exclusively aiming at the refusal of the respective proposal of the management by issuing a voting instruction contrary to the management proposal.
